Minor in Southeast Asian Studies

Admission to the minor must be declared no later than the second semester of the junior year; after the start of the seventh semester will be by petition only. Students should prepare a coherent research statement to attach to the application.

A minor in Southeast Asian Studies may be achieved by meeting these requirements:

1. Complete five courses with a minimum of 18 credits. ASIAN 2208 “Introduction to Southeast Asia” is required.
2. Students normally take courses in Southeast Asian Studies from those listed under Asian Studies or its cross-listings. Southeast Asian-related courses taught outside this department with relative Southeast Asian content may also count, pending approval by the Director of Undergraduate Studies (DUS). Non-language courses must be selected at the 2200-level or above.
3. The following courses may also count towards the minor: two courses in a Southeast Asian language at the 1100-level or above and Southeast Asian graduate courses. Language study is strongly encouraged, but credits awarded for language study cannot be more than six credits.
4. Up to 8 credits may be awarded for approved courses taken through Cornell Abroad in Southeast Asia, in consultation with the DUS. Such courses may include summer study.
5. A minimum grade of B must be received for all courses counted towards the minor. S/U courses are ineligible.

Those enrolled in the Southeast Asian Studies Minor are considered members of the Southeast Asia Program and are encouraged to participate in all program activities.

To apply, select an advisor from the Southeast Asia Program faculty for consultation on courses of study. A list of eligible faculty is available in the Asian Studies Department Office. Additionally, schedule an appointment with the Director of Undergraduate Studies, (asianstudiesdus@cornell.edu). Bring the completed form to the appointment along with a copy of your current Cornell transcript; informal transcripts are accepted.

Once approved, return the form to the Asian Studies Department Office, 350 Rockefeller Hall.
